

Student Data Privacy Notice

This Privacy Notice explains how we, University College Birmingham (the “University”) of Summer Row, Birmingham, B3 1JB, telephone number: 0121 604 1000, use the personal data we collect. The University collects personal data from you when you enrol here to study a course. The information may be added to from other sources such as the Government’s Personal Learner Record, UCAS or Student Finance to ensure accurate information is held. We will also update information such as results as you progress. Attendance on your programme is also stored against your record.

We are the data controller for such personal data relating to you and this Privacy Notice explains how we will process your personal data. Personal data is held on various systems within the University and, in some cases, in paper form. All of the information we hold is held securely and only authorised staff can access it. The information that we collect will be held in accordance with the General Data Protection Regulation 2016/679 (the “GDPR”) and the Data Protection Act 2018.

The University’s Data Protection Officer is the Head of Information Services:

Ruth Cartwright

Address: University College Birmingham, Summer Row, Birmingham B3 1JB

Email: dataprotection@ucb.ac.uk

Telephone: 0121 604 1000

There are certain principles that the University must adhere to. This means that we will make sure your information:

- Is treated fairly and is only used for the purposes for which we have collected it and for which we have a legal basis for processing.
- Will only be used for the purposes for which it was collected, unless we ask your permission to use it for something else.
- Will not be excessive. i.e. We will not hold information about you that we do not need.
- Will be accurate. You can help us with this by making sure your details are correct on the student portal.
- Will not be kept longer than is necessary, although some of the data will be archived so that we can still confirm your course, attendance and achievement in the future.
- Will be kept securely so that there is no loss of data or data breaches. Personal data is kept on secure servers and any hard copies are kept in secure locations. Only authorised people have access to your personal information.
- We will ensure that, where personal data is shared or stored outside of the European Union, there are appropriate safeguards in place to protect your personal data. Any third party organisations that hold personal data (e.g. cloud hosting) will have confirmed their compliance with GDPR before data is processed.

You have certain rights as a data subject under the GDPR. This means that you have:

- The right to gain access to your personal data – You can ask us what information we hold on you. *
- The right to rectification – You can ask us to put right any information that you believe is incorrect or where appropriate, given the purposes for which your data is processed, the right to have incomplete data completed.
- The right to erasure – You can ask for information to be removed, although this is a limited right which applies, among other circumstances, when the data is no longer required or the processing has no legal justification. There are also exceptions to this right, such as when the processing is required by law or in the public interest.
- The right to restrict processing – If you feel you are being disadvantaged by us holding information that is inaccurate, you can ask us to stop processing it until we fix it, or come to an agreement.
- The right to data portability – You can ask us to extract your information so that you can use it elsewhere.
- The right to object – You can object to us processing your data for marketing purposes. You can also object to us processing your data when such processing is based on the public interest or other legitimate interests, unless we have compelling legitimate grounds to continue with the processing.
- Where the legal basis for processing your personal data is based on your consent, the right to withdraw your consent at any time.
- Rights in relation to automated decision making and profiling – However, the University will never make any decisions about you without any human intervention.

 There are certain exceptions where data access may be limited e.g. student grades and course classifications cannot be provided until exam board approval and release date. You will be informed at the time of your request if there is a restriction on the data that you have requested.*

For any information on your rights, or if you have questions or concerns, please contact the Data Protection Officer.

You also have the right to complain to the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO) if you feel that the University is not processing data correctly. You can make a complaint on the ICO's website: <https://ico.org.uk/> .

Why does the University need information about you and what is the purpose of our processing?

We only process data for specified purposes and if it is justified in accordance with data-protection law. Specifically:

- We need to know who you are, so we will need to check official ID to make sure our information is accurate. Our information must be accurate so that any certificates we produce are correct.

- We need to assess your eligibility for the course that you have chosen to do, so we need information about your previous qualifications and education.
- We need to assess if you have any tuition fees to pay and this is based on information such as age, previous qualifications and where you live.
- We need to be able to contact you about your course, so we need up-to-date contact information. e.g. online enrolment.
- We have an obligation to monitor equal opportunities and diversity and to send information of this nature to Government agencies, so we need some information that is considered “Special Categories of Data” such as ethnic origin, sexual orientation, religion or gender reassignment. We will take special care of this and make no decisions about you based upon it. You have the right to refuse to answer these questions when asked and we can state that you have chosen not to answer.
- We may wish to assess whether you need some extra support with your course. For example, you may have a medical condition that we need to be aware of, or you may have specific learning needs that we can support you with.
- Your information may be used to assist in finance and welfare activities.
- All education providers have to provide information to Government agencies. Much of the personal information that you give us will be included in this. They use it for assessing the amount of funding we can receive from them and also to produce statistical analysis of the current students in education. They may also use it to contact you for the National Student Survey. They may also use it to contact you for the Graduate Outcomes survey which assesses how well our graduates are doing after they leave us.
- We may need your information in the event of discipline or grievance actions.
- We need to monitor your progress on the course, so we will add data into your record such as attendance, marks and grades achieved.
- We may need to organise placements for you, or to help you organise a placement.
- You may ask us to provide a reference.
- We may need information if you are going on a trip.
- Our library will use your personal information in their library system so that you can access all the resources.
- Your information will be used if you choose to get counselling, guidance or help with careers.
- We need to ensure we comply with health and safety guidance
- We need to make sure that the University is kept secure, so you will have an ID created from the information that you give us and your access to the University will be recorded.
- We may need to respond to Police requests/checks.
- Some data will be used in analytical reports to monitor outcomes at the University.
- Certain analytical information may be drawn from our systems in order to support students and to enhance their teaching and learning engagement using cloud technology. Where possible any data analysis will be anonymised in order to protect identity.

What personal data do we hold?

Examples of the data that we collect from you on your enrolment form or that comes directly from UCAS and the data that we add is listed below. We may not have all of this information for you as some depends on the course that you are doing, whether you are home, EU or overseas, whether you have needed to access some of the University's facilities etc.

Lecture Capture

In order to make lectures and classes available to students online, some lectures and classes may be recorded. In most cases, the audience will not be seen, but it is possible that image and voice may be captured during this process.

Some practical classes may be recorded in order for lecturers to show you how you performed during a practical lesson, e.g. kitchen service

Application Information and Entry Qualifications

Information on the qualifications you had when you applied to the University. This may include the awarding body, the date achieved, the subject, the level, the grade. Previous degree information for trainee teachers. Personal statements made through UCAS, or on your application form, offers made, interview invitations, your decision whether to accept the place and copies of certificates/transcripts.

Information you discussed or provided to our Academic Support Team (if any) may be stored on our student portal for access by relevant members of staff only to ensure they can support any additional needs you may have.

Non-EU Student Information

In order to comply with Border Agency regulations, we hold the following for non-EU students:

Country of Birth, Place of Birth, Passport Number, Passport Issue Date, Passport expiry date, place of issue, ID card number, Visa information, Work permit Type, Visa Number, Visa Expiry Date.

Our International Office is required to share this information with the UK Border Agency and to inform them of any withdrawals or lapses in attendance.

Destination of Leavers/Graduate Outcomes

After you leave the University, we are obliged to contact you to find out how you are getting on. We will hold the following information based on your responses:

Current activity e.g. Working/studying, current job, current employer, salary, how you found out about the job, whether you had worked there before, current study information such as place of study, type of course, subject of course and your opinions of how you feel about your experience of Higher Education at the University.

You may be contacted by HESA in order for them to collect graduate outcomes. Once collected, they will send this information to us and we will store this as above. It will be analysed and individuals will not be identifiable in any reports produced.

Alumni

When you leave the University, some of your data, if you have given your consent, will be transferred to our Alumni system. It will be used to contact you regarding Alumni activities, careers etc.

CCTV

CCTV is used within the University for security reasons and your image may be recorded.

How long will we hold your data?

Hard copies of student information will be archived and destroyed after 7 years.

The Student records system data will be held on file after graduation for a period of at least 7 years. In order to confirm academic history to future employers, other institutions etc. at the request of the student, we will continue to hold information after 7 years. If at any point after the 7 years the student request deletion of their information, then this will be carried out.

Online proctoring recordings will be deleted from the Respondus server after two years.

It may be possible to remove any excess information that would not be required to confirm this.

CCTV data will be deleted after 31 days.

Library records are deleted annually unless there are outstanding issues such as overdue books or outstanding fines.
