Article 1: Purpose and aim of policy

This policy applies to all types of Higher Education programmes and should be read in conjunction with the University's Academic Regulations, with particular reference to:

- 1 UCB's General Data Protection Regulations \(GDPR\)
- 2 UCB Student Complaint Procedure
- 3 Code of Practice on Extenuating Circumstances
- 4 Admissions Policy and Procedures
- 5 Safeguarding Policy
- 6 Code of Practice on Leave of Absence
- 7 Fitness to Study Policy

This policy sets out how staff at UCB can provide reasonable adjustments for university students who have disclosed that they have a disability and how a student support plan can identify what reasonable adjustments a student may require to complete their studies. UCB has a responsibility to make these adjustments by law following the regulations and procedures set out in the Equality Act 2010. These reasonable adjustments can take the form of: access arrangements for admissions and exams, adjustments in buildings, and in-class support. This policy focuses on the steps UCB can take to make sure all reasonable adjustments are put into place. Some reasonable adjustments may not be able to be met due to several external conditions. These could include: cost of building adjustments; risk of harm to other students and staff at risk of harm; and students struggling to meet certain curriculum specification requirements.

Adjustments to written exams and written coursework, as well as projects and portfolios will be considered based on the suitability of evidence the students send to the Disability Support team. Adjustments to presentations and practical assessments will be discussed amongst tutors, the Disability Support team and the student ahead of the assessment.

A student that sends in their evidence will be asked for a support plan meeting. Within this meeting a review of all reasonable adjustments will be noted and collated into a support plan document that both students and staff will have access to. This policy provides an overview of what a support plan is; how a student can get a support plan; and what is covered in a support plan.

On the support plans, it will also state refer to staff guidance booklet - this guidance booklet (HE Reasonable Adjustments Guidance booklet) gives generic information about a wide range of disabilities and further ideas for alternative assessments and in-class support. There is also a Q and A Support Plan booklet for staff. The booklets will be circulated around staff.

Definitions

For this policy, the following definitions are used:

-Disability- Reflecting the definitions outlined in the Equality Act 2010.

‘A person has a disability if they have a physical or mental impairment, and the impairment has a substantial and long-term adverse effect on his or her ability to carry out normal day to-day activities.’ (Equality Act 2010, Section 6)

Schedule 1 of the Equality Act 2010 provides determination of disability, stating the effect of impairment as long term if: = it has lasted for at least 12 months, = it is likely to last for at least 12 months, or = it is likely to last for the rest of the life of the person.

-Student/Applicant-

A student or applicant who has declared a disability on their application form or during their course.

-Official Evidence-

We refer to evidence set out in Appendix 1.

-Academic Staff

Any teaching staff, deans or departmental heads that are involved with teaching practices, curriculum guidance/structure and module formation, will make the final decision over reasonable adjustments.

Article 2 –Processes of gathering evidence and drawing up of a support plan

- A. The student applies through the standard admissions process directly with UCB or via UCAS. Please refer to the admissions guidance for further information. They cannot be discriminated against for having disclosed a physical or mental health need during their application. Please refer to UCB's Admission Policy.
- B. If the student declares that they have a disability or long-term health condition (mental or physical) they will be asked to send in their evidence to UCB's HE Disability Support inbox, disabilitysupport@ucb.ac.uk.
- C. A final cut-off date to guarantee that support plans can go live before teaching starts will be sent to students ahead of both the September and January intake. Two reminder emails or phone calls will follow from the Disability Support team. Students who do not submit their evidence by this time can still submit their evidence at a later date, but the support plan may not be live until after teaching has started.
- D. Please refer to appendix 1 for evidence that UCB can accept following guidance and from NADP.

Evidence

UCB will work from within the realm of the definition of a disability set out in the Equality Act 2010. This is defined on page 4. Temporary conditions such as a broken limb would not come under the definition of a disability, but UCB can grant other reasonable adjustments other than a support plan, such as temporary lift passes. Pregnancy and maternity leave are also not classed as a disability and students should refer to the Registry for advice.

It is a student's responsibility to submit their evidence to the Disability Support team. A staff member can, with the student's permission, refer a student to the Disability Support inbox. The student must be copied in so that the Disability Support team have permission to contact them.

- E. The Disability Support team will then review all the evidence and notify the student of any further information that is required to complete the support plan or will start to create a support plan that is tailored to the student's individual needs.
- F. The drafting of the support plan may need to involve the Wellbeing team; nurse; Accommodation team; and academic departments dependent on the need and the severity of the condition the student has sent evidence for.
- G. The student will be invited to a phone, online or F2F meeting to discuss a draft support plan and their potential reasonable adjustments. Students who disclose new information within this meeting may need to send in further information and/or have a follow-up meeting.
- H. Evidence will be stored according to UCB'S GDPR policies and GDPR regulations. Students will also be told where this information will be stored, who the support plan may be shared with and what purpose the support plan is throughout the support plan process.

- I. Students will be asked if UCB is able to share contents of the support plan with external placement providers should they want support in finding a placement. The Hired team can use this consent as permission to help find a suitable placement for the student only if the student accesses their services. Consent will be stated on the support plan.
- J. The date at the bottom of the support plan will be the date the student agreed to the support plan concessions and content. Please refer to Appendix 2 for an example of a support plan. Support plans can be amended to reflect any new additional information and diagnosis throughout their course and this would follow the same process outlined above.
- K. For students who are already at UCB and receive a diagnosis during their course or would like support, they will need to contact disabilitysupport@ucb.ac.uk. An academic staff member can refer a student, but the student must be copied in so that we have their permission to discuss this support.

Article 3: Coverage of support plans

1. Support plans are for students on courses that are credited at L4. Apprenticeships will be discussed in Article 9 of this policy. They are usually valid for the duration of their course.
2. A support plan will go live onto HE students' portals under the CASE tab. Academic staff will also be able to access this. Senior Lecturers and Heads of Departments will be notified of students with support plans under their remit.
3. Academic staff will not have access to any medical data/ reports sent into the Disability Support team. This is at the student's discretion.
4. If a student changes course, the support plan will need to be amended. If there are any changes the student wants to make to their plan, they need to contact the Disability Support team at: disabilitysupport@ucb.ac.uk. The Disability Support team could add a new diagnosis and will follow some or all of the steps laid out in Article 2.
5. The support plan does not apply if attendance drops below the attendance level that is required for their chosen course. See the Code of Practice on Student Engagement and Reasonable Diligence. The Disability Support team may also refer to the Fitness to Study policy in the General Student Regulations. A support plan will not be completed and uploaded for those students who are not engaging in their course until a further discussion with their academic department.
6. It is the responsibility of a student to contact the Disability Support team, although they can be referred by other staff members. Students will need to be copied into their email as an indication of permission to discuss their support needs.
7. The support plan will also state any allergies, or medication that staff should be aware of. It will also notify staff of any PEEPs (Personal Emergency Evacuation Plans) that they should also consider. PEEPs are uploaded as separate attachments onto the CASE portal. PEEPs are completed by the Disability Support team and the Health and Safety department.
8. The support plan will cover mental health, physical health and learning differences and disabilities under the definition of the Equality Act 2010.
9. A support plan covers exam concessions, adjusted hand-in dates and recommendations for both in-class support and alternative assessments, as well as permission for the Hired team to use contents of this support plan when contacting external placement providers with information about the student as and when required.
10. As well as the student giving UCB this permission, during the support plan meeting, students will be asked if they would like to sign a consent to share information agreement. If they provide contact details for family members or friends, UCB can also share contents of their support needs to those family members if those parties contact UCB. If we do not have a file on record, UCB needs to contact the student first. If there is a safeguarding concern, UCB can contact the next of kin regardless of this permission.

11. Students do not need to apply for an EC if an adjusted hand-in has been granted and can submit their work up to 10 working days after the original deadline. The support plan is evidence in itself.
12. The Disability Support team will have provided the EC team with a list of names of students with support plans who can submit up to 10 working days after the deadline. The Disability Support team will also submit an exam list to the Exams team for those students who have signed off on their support plan.
13. If a student has used their reasonable adjustments and adjusted hand-in and feel that further factors have impacted on their ability to submit or participate in assessment, they must apply for the consideration of extenuating circumstances. Full details of this process can be found in the Code of Practice on Extenuating Circumstances.
14. If a student feels that a particular assignment may be challenging, they can ask academic staff to consult the HE Reasonable Adjustments Guidance booklet, which gives more generic information and ideas for alternative assessments. Agreed alternative assessments should be logged onto the dashboard and are subject to the discretion of academic departments.
15. Article 4 outlines what is covered under the 10 working day reasonable adjustment period for coursework deadlines.

Article 4: What is covered under the 10 working days

1. Written pieces and coursework, including projects and dissertations, will be covered under the 10 working-day reasonable adjustments period
2. Students can submit before this new date.
3. The new hand-in date will be on the site that students submit their work on.
4. There may be pieces of written work that will need to be handed in on the same day as a practical assessment/ presentation. When this occurs, the procedure would be to allow for another reasonable adjustment. Examples of a reasonable adjustment could be: additional workshops or support sessions; releasing the question a number of days earlier for the student; or accommodating an alternative date for the practical assessment if appropriate. There may be occasions where this is not viable, with the student being aware that these are 'reasonable' adjustments where they can be provided.
5. From 2021, if a student is granted an adjusted hand-in date for coursework/written assignments, this will be for 10 working days and for any word count. The Disability Support team will review this and amend the policy accordingly.
6. Drafts and formative pieces do not count towards the 10-working day reasonable adjustment policy. Attendance reports and Peer Review reports would need to be at discretion of academic departments as this involves external parties.
7. A 10-working day reasonable adjustment is not granted for students submitting during resit periods. They could get up to one additional day.
8. Students on repeat modules will be able to access their reasonable adjustments for written pieces and projects
9. Group reports/ Peer assessments- If their work is marked individually and would not affect other grades then academic staff should where possible try to accommodate 10 working days
10. Portfolios:

- If there is one hand in date this will be covered by the 10 working days.

-If this is a continuous piece with formative feedback, the student will have an overall 10 working days but should be guided as to when to hand in formative pieces.

-If this is a continuous piece with assessed separate pieces throughout the module (i.e. one report in week 5 and one in week 9), there can only be 10 working days overall not separate 10 days for each piece.

-If this is a portfolio with separate pieces such as a mood board and a report, there is still only 10 working days overall, not for each separate piece.

Article 5: Exams

1. The Disability Support team will notify the Exams team of any exam concessions.
2. The student needs to provide at least 3 weeks' notice if assistive technology or a separate room is required. These are reasonable adjustments and may not always be possible to be put into place. Extra time could be accommodated more quickly, but evidence would still be required. If evidence is provided with less than three weeks to the exam, it cannot be guaranteed. Instead, it would be in place for the following exams. A support plan meeting would need to be held before this being granted.
3. If a student had concessions prior to September 2020 that the Disability Support team and/or exams were aware of, these will remain in place. After this, evidence would be required. Evidence would also be required to sign off any reasonable adjustments for coursework.
4. A student who has extra time for written exams, may not always have extra time for their practical exams or an adjusted hand-in for written assignments. This will be dependent on the individual and their needs.
5. Guidance on additional time:
 - 25% is the standard for extra time- reviewed yearly
 - There may at times be a need for 50% (based on evidence)
 - A DSA report/ Study needs assessment may make a recommendation, but this is within the remit of what UCB can provide as an institution
6. Reasonable adjustments for exams can include:
 - Separate or smaller room
 - Possible provision of Assistive Technology- Speech to Text and/or Text to Speech
 - Word Processor
 - Adjustable desk
 - Extra Time
 - Prompter
 - Support dog. These would need to be insured (and Disability Support team consulted).
 - Coloured paper/ screen tints
 - Rest breaks
 - Instructions written down
 - Inspecting the exam room beforehand (under supervision)
 - Interpreter

Article 6: Practical Assessments (PX)

N.B This applies to practical exams where one person is being marked

1. Disability Support can advise, but there may be additional factors to consider (such as a written report needing to be submitted on the same day, and the student has 10 working days to complete written work). Please refer to Article 4:4.
2. Extra time cannot be granted if the exam is to assess that students can work within industry-related time pressures. The academic department will review if extra time can be allowed on a case-by-case basis. Disability Support can advise on support plans.

Examples of this could be:

- a) where students need to produce a set dinner menu within the expected time period they would provide service at a restaurant.
- b) where students perform a simulation of a task in A and E.
- c) where an assessment replicates the timing of landing an aeroplane.

3. If the practical is covered through workshop projects completed over the 12 weeks, a reasonable adjustment could take the form of: an additional workshop; extra time within some individual workshops; and/ or extra time for the final hand in date. This is at the academic department's discretion but Disability Support can advise. The student is aware that some 'reasonable' adjustments may not always be viable.

4. Extra time does not usually apply to group work. Where possible if the department is aware of several students with this requirement and can place them together this could be appropriate. If the other students do not qualify for additional time, the group work cannot be adjusted. If there are individual reports due in after the group work (marked individually and not requiring the work of others) then this may have 10 working days (if the student has a 10 working day arrangement).

5. Guidance on support:

- Extra Time (25-50 %) or additional workshops
- Rest breaks
- Support Dogs. These would need to be insured (and Disability Support team consulted).
- Interpreter. Disability Support need to be notified as soon as possible and will communicate with the student and teachers. This cannot be guaranteed and may not be a necessity.
- Practical Support Worker. Disability Support will need to arrange this. This would need to be evidenced.
- Instructions written down in front of students/ on board as well as vocalised.
- There may be instances where the academic department wish to grant the student the same workspace/ station/ desk that they use within classes (this will be put onto support plan if recommended).

6. Guidance on when physical conditions/ mental issues may impact on assessment completion:

-A student with a skin condition may disclose they cannot handle certain products. The academic department should advise and allow for alternative products.

-A student may disclose an allergy. The academic department should advise and allow alternative products. If the allergy is airborne, further advice from Health and Safety and Estates, as well as the nurse will need to be consulted.

-If the student declares that they cannot be touched or touch others (e.g. for a make-up course), this needs to be discussed within the academic department. Alternatives could take the form of an alternative assessment (mood board/ Q and A/ the use of a dummy model). The relevant academic department should advise the student whether there would be any reasonable adjustments that would affect the completion of their course ahead of their course starting.

Article 7: Presentations and seminar discussions (PX)

1. The Disability Support team can advise on up to 50 % extra time. The standard would be 25%. This is not applicable to group presentations. It may be in some cases that rest breaks are used in lieu of additional time or as well as. This will be dependent on the individual and their support needs.
2. There are several assessment types that could fall under the remit of a presentation (including, but not limited to): viva voce; business meeting; presentation; launch presentations; mock interviews; reflective analysis; Q and A for projects and dissertations; and seminar Q and A
3. A seminar discussion and group presentation cannot be granted extra time. Students are made aware of this within their review meeting. Please note that some individuals may require extra time to respond before moving onto the next student (where this can be accommodated).
4. For day team assessments, the relevant academic department will need to use their own discretion as to whether extra time can be granted/ if this would affect the group mark. Please allow rest breaks wherever possible.
5. Guidance on students who do not wish to present in front of others

The Disability Support team can offer guidance on other formats the student would prefer, but this is ultimately at the discretion of the relevant academic department.

Alternative forms could take the form of:

- a) Recorded presentation
- b) 1:1 presentation with the tutor
- c) Completing the presentation behind a screen
- d) Answering questions based on the work produced rather than a presentation (This should not give the student an unfair advantage).
- e) Written q and as (This should not give the student an unfair advantage).

Staff can also refer to the HE Reasonable Adjustments Alternative Assessments guide. This acts as a guide/ reference point for further examples.

Article 8: Placements and External Visits

1. Support plans will provide details of any transport or hotel requirements for external visits and trips. It is the student's responsibility to notify the module tutor that they are going and that they require this support.
2. The academic team are responsible for organising additional support, such as separate rooms or support at the airport.
3. The Disability Support Team can help with the allocation of support workers that may be required when notified of a trip. They will need to be notified as soon as possible of the details by academic support staff and/or students to guarantee support will be put into place.
4. Reasonable adjustments on placements are subject to each individual providers' regulations. The student can give us written permission to share details of the support plan as guidance to any provider.

Article 9: Apprenticeships and support plans

1. Students completing a L3 (or below) Apprenticeship will be subject to the parameters of FE student support. This also applies for those on a local authority supported L3 (or below) apprenticeship who have declared an EHCP (Education, Health and Care Plan). An EHCP review would also be held. Therefore, no support plan will be required within the HE remit at this level or below. The Apprenticeship team can use Additional Learning Support Funds to help with the purchase of any equipment/ note-taking support whilst on site.
2. Apprentices at L4 and above may be entitled to a support plan for any internal assessments/ additional support when on campus. If apprentices are also completing GCSE or Functional Skills and/or English, support would be reviewed within FE parameters for English and Maths.

Please note: Apprentices who may need a support plan for their HE L4 and above modules would not be able to have any physical note-taking support unless there is a requirement for specialist support (i.e. hearing impairment/ vision impairment-this is a case-by-case basis). There may be other support that the Apprenticeship team could help put into place, such as Grammarly and text to speech and speech to text. Apprentices would need to apply for ECs if they did not meet the evidence threshold for these HE modules and required adjusted hand-in on assignments.

However, for their FS Maths and/ or English, the Apprenticeship team will liaise with Disability Support regarding support in classes. Assignments that are for the L3 part of their apprenticeship should follow End Point Assessment Organisation guidelines. Reasonable adjustments would be applied for by the Apprenticeship team using evidence provided by the student within their application.

3. Support on placements must be discussed between the students, the employer and where necessary academic staff and/ or members of the Hired team.
4. Any adjustments need to be in accordance with the Apprenticeship Standards Curriculum Specification.

Article 10: Complaints procedure

1. Students who want to discuss the contents of their support plan, or feel they are entitled to more support must contact the Disability Support team via disabilitysupport@ucb.ac.uk, or call a member of the team in the first instance. The Disability Support team will review the evidence (or any additional evidence) and give a response.
2. If a student feels that support is not being put into place by departments, they can discuss this with the Disability Support or department teams to try and resolve the matter in the first instance. In some cases, this may need both parties present. Other departments may need to be consulted.
3. The student may wish to follow the UCB's Complaints Procedure if they want to continue with a complaint after this meeting.

These are a selection of types of assessments that may need to be submitted across academic departments and defined in the definitive documents. These will be reviewed yearly.
