A-Level Politics Summer Work 2025

Mr. Andreou, the UCB6 Politics teacher, would like you to be prepared for the steep learning curve ahead in this subject. From September, you will be studying three areas: UK Politics, Ideologies and UK Government.

Task 1

Mr. Andreou would like you to research and write notes about the 2025 Local Elections in England, (held on the 1st May 2025). Come to class ready to discuss these questions:

1. Who won these elections? Why?
2. Who came second in these elections? Why?
3. What happened to the Conservatives and Labour?
4. Do you think these results really matter? Why or why not?

Task 2

Research these politicians, find their names, their jobs (or titles) and come prepared to class to discuss what impact they have had on politics in 2024-2025:

Task 3

On the Politics course, we are interested in laws that Parliament makes. Between 2015-2025, research 3 laws that are considered “bad” (or unsuccessful) and another 3 laws that are considered “good” (or successful); put the names of the laws (and the year they were passed) into the table on the next page and come to class prepared to justify your choices.

	A “bad” or unsuccessful law (put in the official name of the law)	Year of law	A “good” or successful law (put in the official name of the law)	Year of law

Task 4

We look at key thinkers from the past, who wrote famous political theories that have stood the test of time. Research the 3 thinkers shown, and come to class ready to share your thoughts on what they said

MARY WOLLSTONECRAFT	What did she say about women's rights?

AYN RAND	What did she say about freedom?

KARL MARX	What did he say about equality?
